

Some plant physiologists study how good fires help foresters to plant and grow healthy new forests.